vs.

Civil Action No. 5:21cv00086-JPB

NATIONSTAR MORTGAGE LLC,
d/b/a MR. COOPER,

Defendant.

U.S. DISTRICT COURT-WVND
WHEELING, WV 26003

FINAL APPROVAL ORDER

Pending before the Court is Plaintiff's Unopposed Motion for Final Approval of Settlement, Attorneys' Fees and Costs, and Service Awards. For the reasons stated in the Plaintiff's memorandum and for good cause shown, the Motion is GRANTED. Accordingly, the Court hereby FINDS, ORDERS, ADJUDGES, AND DECREES as follows:

I. Background

In this action, Plaintiff, on behalf of a class of similarly situated individuals, claimed that Defendant violated the West Virginia Consumer Credit and Protection Act ("WVCCPA") and breached the terms of her mortgage based on Nationstar's assessment of convenience or "Pay-to-Pay" fees when Plaintiff and class members made their mortgage payments by telephone or interactive voice recognition (IVR). After the exchange of informal discovery, one informal virtual mediation session among counsel and one formal mediation session with the assistance of an experienced professional mediator, the parties reached a settlement of Plaintiff's individual and class claims. Plaintiff filed her unopposed Motion for Preliminary Approval of Class Action Settlement and the Court preliminarily approved the Settlement Agreement on July 12, 2022. That Order outlined the terms of the proposed settlement, appointed ILYM as Class Administrator and conditionally certified the following class:

All persons (1) with a residential mortgage loan securing a property in West Virginia, (2) serviced or sub-serviced by Nationstar, (3) who paid a fee to Nationstar for making a loan payment by telephone or interactive voice recognition (IVR) during the applicable statute of limitation. The class consists of borrowers on 1,566 accounts, who in 10,637 instances paid convenience fees to make a payment by telephone.

The Court adopts and incorporates herein those portions of that Order.

II. The Settlement Merits Final Approval

A. Notice is Complete.

The Court finds that the parties have completed all settlement notice obligations imposed in the Order on Motion for Preliminary Approval of Class Action Settlement and Scheduling Order. The class notice, which included first-class mailed notice to each class member, constitutes the "the best notice practicable under the circumstances," as required by Rule 23(c)(2).

B. The Settlement is Fair, Adequate, and Reasonable.

Settlement of class actions must be approved by the Court. Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e); In re: Lumber Liquidators Chinese-Manufactured Flooring Prod. Mktg., Sales Practices & Prod. Liab. Litig., 952 F.3d 471, 483 (4th Cir. 2020); Scardelletti v. Debarr, 43 Fed. Appx. 525, 528 (4th Cir. 2002); In re Jiffy Lube Sec. Litig., 927 F.2d 155, 158 (4th Cir. 1991); Domonoske, 790 F. Supp. 2d at 472. "The primary concern addressed by Rule 23(e) is the protection of class members whose rights may not have been given adequate consideration during the settlement." In re Jiffy Lube Sec. Litig., 927 F.2d at 158; see also Groves, 2011 WL 4382708, at *4.

Such approval typically involves a two-step process of “preliminary” and “final” approval. See Manual for Complex Litigation § 21.632, at 414 (4th ed. 2004); Grice v. PNC Mortgage Corp. of Am., No. 97-3804, 1998 WL 350581, at *2 (D. Md. May 21, 1998) (endorsing Manual’s two-step process); Horton v. Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc., 855 F. Supp. 825, 827 (E.D.N.C. 1992). In the first stage, the Parties submit the proposed settlement to the Court for preliminary approval. In the second stage, following preliminary approval, the Class is notified and a fairness hearing scheduled at which the Court will determine whether to approve the settlement. See Bicking v. Mitchell Rubenstein & Assocs., No. 3:11-cv-78, 2011 WL 5325674, at *4 (E.D. Va. Nov. 3, 2011) (“Prior to granting final approval, the court must direct reasonable notice to all potentially affected class members, allow time for objection, and provide a ‘fairness hearing.’”). The Court has already granted preliminary approval. “When the court reviews a proposed class action settlement, it acts as a fiduciary for the class.” Lumber Liquidators, 952 F.3d at 483-84, citing Sharp Farms v. Speaks, 917 F.3d 276, 293-94 (4th Cir. 2019).

In determining whether a settlement meets the requirements of Rule 23, the Fourth Circuit has developed multifactor standards for assessing whether a class action settlement is “fair, reasonable, and adequate” under Rule 23(e)(2). Lumber Liquidators, 952 F.3d at 484; Scardelletti, 43 Fed. Appx. at 528; In re Jiffy Lube Sec. Litig., 927 F.2d at 158. Under Rule 23(e)(2), “[t]he fairness analysis is intended primarily to ensure that a ‘settlement is reached as a result of good-faith bargaining at arm’s length, without collusion.’” Berry v. Schulman, 807 F.3d 600, 614 (4th Cir. 2015) (alteration omitted) (quoting In re Jiffy Lube Sec. Litig., 927 F.2d at 159).

“[W]e have identified four factors for determining a settlement's fairness, which are: (1) the posture of the case at the time settlement was proposed; (2) the extent of discovery that had been conducted; (3) the circumstances surrounding the negotiations; and (4) the experience of counsel in the area of the class action litigation.” Lumber Liquidators, 952 F.3d at 484 (citing Jiffy Lube, 927 F.2d at 159). The Court should be satisfied that “the proposed settlement appears to be the product of serious, informed, non-collusive negotiations, has no obvious deficiencies, does not improperly grant preferential treatment to class representatives or segments of the class, and falls within the range of possible approval.” Samuel v. Equicredit Corp., No. 00-6196, 2002 WL 970396, at *1 n.1 (E.D. Pa. 2002); In re Vitamins Antitrust Litig., MDL No. 1285, 2001 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 25071, at *29-30. “Absent evidence to the contrary, the Court should presume that settlement negotiations were conducted in good faith and that the resulting agreement was reached without collusion.” Dijkstra v. Carenbauer, No. 5:11-cv-00152, 2016 WL 6804980, at *2 (N.D. W.Va. July 12, 2016) (Bailey, J.), citing Newberg on Class Actions § 11.28 at 1159 (3d ed. 1992); Polar Int'l Brokerage Corp. v. Reeve, 187 F.R.D. 108, 112 (S.D.N.Y. 1999) (the court must look at the negotiating process leading to settlement in order to ensure that “the compromise be the result of arms’-length negotiations and that plaintiff's counsel have possessed the ... ability ... necessary to effectively represent the class's interests.”) (citing Weinberger v. Kendrick, 698 F.2d 61, 74 (2d Cir. 1983)).

In determining the adequacy of the proposed settlement, the Court must consider the: (1) relative strength of Plaintiff's case on the merits; (2) existence of any difficulties of proof or strong defenses Plaintiff is likely to encounter if the case proceeds to trial; (3) anticipated duration and expense of additional litigation; (4) solvency of defendant and likelihood of recovery of a litigated judgment; and (5) degree of opposition to the settlement. Scardelletti, 43

Fed. Appx. at 528; In re Jiffy Lube Sec. Litig., 927 F.2d at 159; Groves, 2011 WL 4382708, at *5; Loudermilk Servs., Inc., 2009 WL 72818, at *3.

Consideration of the applicable factors reveals that the Parties' proposed Settlement Agreement merits final approval. The Parties' settlement was indeed the product of serious, informed, arm's-length, and non-collusive negotiations. Before settling this matter, the Parties seriously litigated this case at arm's-length. They exchanged informal discovery and participated in informal negotiations and an in-person mediation conducted by an experienced mediator. By the time the in-person formal mediation occurred, Plaintiff's Counsel and Defendant's Counsel, who are both experienced in not only prosecuting complex class action claims such as these but specifically "Pay-to-Pay" litigation, had "a clear view of the strengths and weaknesses" of their case and were in a strong position to make an informed decision regarding the reasonableness of a potential settlement. In re Warner Commc'ns Sec. Litig., 618 F. Supp. 735, 745 (S.D.N.Y. 1985) aff'd, 798 F.2d 35 (2d Cir. 1986).

The settlement has no obvious deficiencies and does not grant preferential treatment to the class representative. The intrinsic value of the net settlement payment to Class Members is readily apparent when one considers the risks inherent in continued and protracted litigation and the expense and delay that accompany the appeal process.

The settlement is particularly valuable to absent Class Members who, but for the settlement, likely would be unaware of the existence of their legal claims. Even if they were aware, given the relatively small amounts of money involved, absent class members and attorneys who may represent them would have little financial incentive to prosecute individual actions. The alternative to bringing this case as a class action is bringing hundreds of individual claims against Defendant. Realistically, the alternative to a class action under the present circumstances is no action at all.

“It has long been clear that the law favors settlement.” United States v. Manning Coal Corp., 977 F.2d 117, 120 (4th Cir. 1992). This is particularly true in class actions. Sullivan v. DB Invs., Inc., 667 F.3d 273, 311 (3d Cir. 2011); In re PaineWebber Ltd. P'ships Litig., 147 F.3d 132, 138 (2d Cir. 1998) (noting the “strong judicial policy in favor of settlements, particularly in the class action context”); Reed v. Big Water Resort, LLC, No. 2:14-cv-01583-DCN, 2016 WL 7438449, at *5 (D.S.C. May 26, 2016) (quoting same); William B. Rubenstein, 4 Newberg on Class Actions § 13.44, n.1 (5th ed. Dec. 2019 Update) (collecting cases). The proposed settlement serves the overriding public interest in settling litigation. Adkins, 2022 WL 327739 at *3, citing Van Bronkhorst v. Safeco Corp., 529 F.2d 943, 950 (9th Cir. 1976). The complexity, expense, and duration of class action litigation are factors that mitigate in favor of approval of a settlement. Nicholes v. Combined Ins. Co. of Am., No. 5:16-cv-10203, 2019 WL 2575066, at *3 (S.D. W.Va. Feb. 22, 2019). While the Parties could have litigated the case to judgment and taxed the resources of the litigants and the Court, they chose instead rationally and reasonably to forgo the expense and uncertainty of continued litigation and focus their efforts on achieving a fair and adequate settlement that took the risks of further litigation into account.

Finally, the “opinion of class action counsel, with substantial experience in litigation of similar size and scope, is an important consideration.” Cox, 2019 WL 164814, at *3 citing Muhammad, 2008 WL 4382708, at *4. ““When the parties’ attorneys are experienced and knowledgeable about the facts and claims, their representations to the court that the settlement provides class relief which is fair, reasonable and adequate should be given significant weight.”” Id. at *4 (quoting Rolland v. Cellucci, 191 F.R.D. 3, 10 (D. Mass. 2000)). In the present case, appointed class counsel, who recommends the settlement, is skilled and experienced in consumer class actions and specifically in the litigation of Pay-to-Pay fees. See e.g., Muhammad, 2008 WL 5377783, at *4 (recognizing that Plaintiff’s counsel, Jonathan Marshall of the law firm Bailey & Glasser, LLP is “skilled and experienced in class action litigation, and have served as class counsel in several cases, including consumer lending cases”); Alig v. Quicken Loans Inc., No. 5:12-CV-114, 2016 WL 10489897, at *23 (N.D.W. Va. June 2, 2016)(“Jason Causey and the attorneys of Bordas & Bordas are experienced consumer class action litigators.”).

III. The Requested Attorneys’ Fees and Costs are Reasonable

Awarding attorneys’ fees as a percentage of the benefit to the class is the preferable and prevailing method of determining fee awards in class actions that establish common funds for the benefit of the class. The requested award of $782,460.00, which represents one-third of the Common Fund, is reasonable under the circumstances of this case. It is noteworthy that no class member has objected to the fees and expenses sought by counsel.

A. The Percentage of Fund Method is the Appropriate Measure for Determining Fees.

“The percentage-of-the-fund method, also known as the common fund doctrine, allows attorney’s fees to be based on a percentage of the total recovery to the Plaintiff class.” Berry v. Wells Fargo & Co., No. 3:17-cv-00304, 2020 WL 9311859, at *11 (D.S.C. 2020), citing See Boeing Co. v. Van Gemert, 444 U.S. 472, 478 (1980). The common fund doctrine is one of the earliest recognized exceptions to the “American Rule” which generally requires that litigants bear their own costs and attorneys’ fees. Premised on the equitable powers of the court, the common fund doctrine allows a person who maintains a suit that results in the creation, preservation or increase of a fund in which others have a common interest, to be reimbursed from that fund for the litigation expenses incurred. Cent. R.R. & Banking Co. v. Pettus, 113 U.S. 116 (1885).

“Although the Fourth Circuit has not determined the preferred method for calculating attorney fees where the common fund has been generated on behalf of a class, nearly all circuits, as well as district courts within this Circuit, that have considered the issue have found that the trial court may use the percentage method.” Dijkstra v. Carenbauer, No. 5:11-cv-152, 2015 WL 12750449, at *6 (N.D. W. Va. July 29, 2015); see also Krakauer v. Dish Network, L.L.C., No. 1:14-cv-333, 2019 WL 7066834, at *4 (M.D.N.C. Dec. 23, 2019) (“district courts in the Fourth Circuit ‘overwhelmingly’ prefer the percentage method in common-fund cases”); Good v. West Virginia-American Water Co., No. 14-1374, 2017 WL 2884535, at *20 (S.D. W. Va. July 6, 2017); Kidrick v. ABC Television & Appliance Rental, No. 3:97-cv-69, 1999 WL 1027050 *1 (N.D. W. Va. 1999) (“Where there is a common fund in a class settlement, application of a percentage method to calculate an attorney’s fee award is now favored.”) (citing Boeing Co. v. Van Gemert, 444 U.S. 472, 478 (1980)); Goldenberger v. Integrated Res., Inc., 209 F.3d 43 (2d Cir. 2000); Cook v. Niedert, 142 F.3d 1004, 1013 (7th Cir. 1998); In re Thirteen Appeals Arising out of San Juan DuPont Plaza Hotel Fire Litig., 56 F.3d 295, 307 (1st Cir. 1995); In re Wash. Public Power Supply Sys. Grauly, 886 F.2d 268, 272 (9th Cir. 1989); Brown v. Phillips Petroleum Co., 838 F.2d 451, 454, 456 (10th Cir.), cert. denied, 488 U.S. 822 (1988); Camden I Condo. Ass’n, 946 F.2d 768, 773-774 (11th Cir. 1991); Bebchick v. Wash. Met. Area Transit Comm’n, 805 F.2d 396, 406-7 (D.C. Cir. 1986). In fact, some circuits mandate use of the percentage of fund method. Swedish Hosp. Corp. v. Shalala, 1 F.3d 1261, 1271 (D.C. Cir. 1993); Camden I Condo. Ass'n, 946 F.2d at 774; see generally 1 Alba Conte, Attorney Fee Awards § 2.02 at 31 (2d ed. 1993); Court Awarded Attorney Fees, Report of the Third Circuit Task Force (“Task Force Report”), 108 F.R.D. 237 (1985) (Prof. Arthur R. Miller, Reporter).

The percentage method “is designed to allow courts to award fees from the fund in a manner that rewards counsel for success and penalizes it for failure.” In re Prudential Ins. Co. Am. Sales Litig., 148 F.3d 283, 333 (3d Cir. 1998) (citing In re Gen. Motors Corp. Pick-Up Truck Fuel Tank Prods. Liab. Litig., 55 F.3d 768, 821 (3d Cir. 1995)). Percentage-based attorney’s fees:

- (1) align the interests of claimants and lawyers by rewarding superior performance and punishing failure;
- (2) minimize the need to evaluate the reasonableness of attorneys’ efforts ex post, which is both time consuming and often hard to do; and
- (3) transfer the burden of financing lawsuits and other risks from claimants to attorneys who are better able to bear them.

In keeping with the larger point of this Report, Judge Easterbrook also maintained that because claimants use contingent percentage fees almost exclusively, judges should use them when awarding fees in claimant representations.

Kirchoff v. Flynn, 786 F.2d 320, 326 (7th Cir. 1986); see also Muhammad, 2008 WL 5377783, at *7.

In its 1985 report, the Third Circuit Task Force recommended that in the traditional common fund situation, a district court “should attempt to establish a percentage fee arrangement.” Task Force Report, 108 F.R.D. 237, 255 (1985); see also Muhammad, 2008 WL 5377783, at *7. Since that time, the Third Circuit has, on several occasions, “reaffirmed that application of a percentage-of-recovery method is appropriate in common-fund cases.” In re Cendant Corporate PRIDES Litig., 243 F.3d 722 (3d Cir. 2001) (collecting cases).

In sum, there is a clear consensus among the federal and state courts, consistent with Supreme Court precedent, that the award of attorneys' fees in common fund cases should be based on a percentage of the recovery. This consensus derives from the recognition that the percentage of fund approach is the better-reasoned and more equitable method of determining attorneys' fees in such cases. Muhammad, 2008 WL 5377783, at *7.

B. The Percentage Requested by Class Counsel is Fully Supported by the Work Performed, Risks Taken, and Results Obtained.

Both state and federal courts in West Virginia recognize the presumptive reasonableness of an attorneys' fee equal to one-third of a recovery. Id. As explained in Eriksen Const. Co., Inc. v. Morey, 923 F. Supp. 878, 881 (S.D. W. Va. 1996):

The Court notes a one-third contingency fee is presumptively reasonable in West Virginia. See Hayseeds, Inc. v. State Farm Fire & Cas., 177 W.Va. 323, 352 S.E.2d 73, 80 (1986). Nevertheless, a forty percent (40%) contingency fee is a common fee contract provision for cases that proceed to trial.

Id.; see also F.S.&P. Coal Co. v. Inter-Mountain Coals, Inc., 179 W. Va. 190, 366 S.E.2d 638 (1988) (a one-third attorneys fee is the "going rate" in contingency fee cases). This authority supports the requested award in this case.

Some courts also consider certain factors in analyzing the reasonableness of fees determined by the percentage of recovery method. Muhammad, 2008 WL 5377783, at *8. These factors can include:

- (1) the size of the fund created and the number of persons benefited;
- (2) the presence or absence of substantial objections by members of the class to the settlement terms and/or fees requested by counsel;
- (3) the skill and efficiency of the attorneys involved;
- (4) the complexity and duration of the litigation;
- (5) the risk of nonpayment;
- (6) the amount of time devoted to the case by plaintiffs' counsel; and
- (7) the awards in similar cases.

Cendant, 243 F.3d at 733 (quoting Gunter v. Ridgewood Energy Corp., 223 F.3d 190, 195 n.1 (3d Cir. 2000)) (citations omitted); see also Muhammad, 2008 WL 5377783, at *8. The Gunter Court instructed that there is no specific formula for analyzing these factors. “Each case is different, and in certain cases, one factor may outweigh the rest.” Gunter, 223 F.3d at 195 n.1.

All of these considerations warrant an award of the requested fees in this case. The fund established for Class Members is substantial in light of the size of the class. Judging by the fact that no Class Member has opted out of or objected to the proposed Settlement, the Class Members overwhelmingly support the settlement. Additionally, class counsel are skilled and experienced in class action litigation, have served as class counsel in dozens of cases, and were particularly qualified to litigate this case. Bailey Glasser attorneys were appointed as lead class counsel in one of the first filed class action lawsuits in the country to challenge Pay-to-Pay fees, Montesi v. Seterus, Inc., Case No. 50-2015-CA-010910-XXXX-MB (Fla. Cir. Ct. Palm Beach Cty.). Montesi was heavily litigated and the trial court certified a class of Florida borrowers over the defendant’s opposition. It resulted in a seven-figure settlement, one of the first of its kind, and refunded a substantial amount of the fees collected by the defendant to the class of borrowers.

Bailey Glasser has acted as lead counsel in over a dozen cases involving Pay-to-Pay Fees across the country and is at the forefront of that litigation. In the course of their representation, Bailey Glasser attorneys have obtained contested class certification twice, in the matters, Torliatt v. Ocwen Loan Servicing, LLC et. al, No. 3:19-cv-04303-WHO (N.D. Cal.) and in Williams v. Lakeview Loan Servicing, LLC et al., Case No 4:20cv-01900 (S.D. Tex.). Each of these cases involved intensive briefing before both at the trial and appellate courts on both the merits of the claims and the issues surrounding class certification.

During the course of their representation, Bailey Glasser attorneys have negotiated substantial recoveries for the classes they represent specifically in litigation challenging Pay-to-Pay fees. These matters include settlements that district courts have granted final approval including Caldwell v. Freedom Mortgage Corp., No. 3:19-cv-02193-N (N.D. Tex.); Elbert v. Roundpoint Mortgage Servicing, Corp., No. 3:20-cv-00250-MMC (N.D. Cal.); Fernandez v. Rushmore Loan Servicing, Case No. 8:21-cv-00621-DOC (C.D. Cal.); Lembeck v. Arvest Central Mortgage Co., No. 3:20-cv-03277-VC (N.D. Cal.); Phillips v. Caliber Home Loans, No. 0:19-cv-02711 (D. Minn.); Pierce v. Statebridge Co., No.1:20-cv-117 (M.D.N.C.); Silveira v. M&T Bank, No. 2:19-cv-06958-ODW (C.D. Cal.); and Langston v. Gateway Mortgage, 5:20-CV-01902 (C.D. CAL.). There are also additional pending settlements where Bailey Glasser attorneys represent the conditionally certified classes that district courts have granted preliminary approval and final approval is pending, including Alexander v. Carrington Mortgage Services, LLC, Case No. 1:20-cv-2369-TEB (D. Md.); Wilson v. Santander Consumer USA, Inc., Case No. 4:20-CV-00152 (E.D. Ark.); Torliatt v. Ocwen Loan Servicing, LLC et. al, No. 3:19-cv-04303-WHO (N.D. Cal.); Six v. Loancare, LLC, 5:21-cv-00451 (S.D. W.Va.); Cox v. New Rez, LLC d/b/a Shellpoint Mortgage Serv., 3:20-cv-00859 (S.D. W.Va.); Thacker v. PHH Mortgage Corp., No. 5:21-cv-00174-JPB (N.D. W.Va.) (Bailey, J.). Bordas and Bordas also serves as class counsel in the Six and Thacker matters.

Each of these cases involved contested litigation over the merits of the claims and settlements that were informed by several district court rulings and appellate court opinions. For example, in Alexander, the trial court initially dismissed all claims, but on appeal, the Fourth Circuit reversed the dismissal and interpreted the FDCPA and Maryland statute to disallow Pay-to-Pay fees that are not expressly authorized by the borrowers' mortgage agreements. See Alexander v. Carrington Mortg. Services, LLC, 23 F.4th 370, 372 (4th Cir. 2022). Accordingly, Bailey Glasser attorneys have brought a wealth of experience and knowledge of these claims to this matter, which helped streamline the negotiation process and limit the contestation on the merits in the course of this litigation.

The case involved complex issues related to Defendant's policies and application of state consumer protection law. Considering the possibility of appeals, resolution of the litigation could have taken years, and counsel bore a risk of nonpayment. The outcome of the case was hardly a foregone conclusion, but nonetheless class counsel accepted representation of the Plaintiff and the class on a contingent fee basis, fronting the costs of litigation. "In so doing, counsel have achieved a quite satisfactory settlement result." Adkins v. Midland Credit Mgmt., Inc., No. 5:17-cv-04107, 2022 WL 327739, at *6 (S.D. W.Va. Feb. 3, 2022), quoting Muhammad, 2008 WL 5377783, at *8.

Finally, the one-third fee, for a total of $782,460.00, requested by counsel is consistent with fee awards in similar common-fund cases. See Adkins, 2022 WL 327739, at *7 (awarding one-third of CCPA settlement); Cox v. BB&T, No. 5:17-cv-01982, 2019 WL 164814, at 5-6 (S.D. W. Va. Jan. 10, 2019) (awarding one-third of CCPA settlement); Dijkstra, 2015 WL 12750449, at *7 (awarding one-third of settlement in CCPA settlement); Archbold, 2015 WL 4276295, at *6 (same); Muhammad, 2008 WL 5377783, at *8 (same); Triplett v. Nationstar Mortgage, LLC, No. 3:11-cv-238 (S.D. W. Va. 2012) (same); Deem v. Ames True Temper, Inc., No. 6:10-cv-01339, 2013 WL 2285972 (S.D. W.Va. May 23, 2013) (awarding one-third in settlement involving pension and insurance claims); Hackworth v. Telespectrum Worldwide, Inc., No. 3:04-cv-1271 (S.D. W. Va. 2004) (awarding fees of one-third amount of settlement in WARN Act class action settlement).

Accordingly, consideration of all of these factors overwhelmingly supports the requested award of one-third of the amount of the common fund established for the Class, for a total of $782,460.00.

IV. The Requested Expenses are Reasonable

Consistent with the terms of the Agreement, the WVCCPA's fee-shifting provision entitles a consumer to recover "all or a portion of the costs of litigation" which includes not only "reasonable attorney fees" but "court costs and fees." W. Va. Code § 46A-5-104. West Virginia courts therefore award costs separately from attorney fees to prevailing plaintiffs in WVCCPA actions. See Muhammad, 2008 WL 5377783 at *9; Quicken Loans, Inc. v. Brown, 737 S.E.2d 640, 664 (W. Va. 2012).

As set forth in the declaration of Jonathan Marshall, Class Counsel have incurred $5,686.49 in reasonable litigation expenses. The vast majority of these expenses were for professional mediation services. The other costs were incurred for filing fees, legal research, travel to and from mediation, and printing/copying.

V. The Proposed Service Award Is Justified and Appropriate

Incentive or service awards reward representative plaintiffs' work in support of the class, as well as their promotion of the public interest. Adkins v. Midland Credit Mgmt., Inc., No. 5:17-cv-04107, 2022 WL 327739, at *6 (S.D. W.Va. Feb. 3, 2022), citing Archbold, 2015 WL 4276295, at *6. Courts around the country have allowed such awards to named plaintiffs or class representatives. See, e.g., Adkins, 2022 WL 327739, at *7 (awarding each class representative $10,000 out of $995,000 fund); Dijkstra, 2015 WL 12750449, at *6 (awarding $10,000 to sole class representative); In re Celebrex (Celecoxib) Antitrust Litig., No. 2:14-CV-00361, 2018 WL 2382091, at *5 (E.D. Va. Apr. 18, 2018) (awarding $300,000 to class representatives out of $94 million fund); McCoy v. Health Net, Inc., 569 F. Supp. 2d 448, 480 (D.N.J. 2008) (awarding $60,000 to each class representative out of $215 million fund); Worthington v. CDW Corp., No. C-1-03-649, 2006 WL 8411650, at *7 (S.D. Ohio May 22, 2006) (awarding $70,000 to class representatives out of $1.45 million fund); Bradburn Parent Teacher Store, Inc. v. 3M, 513 F.Supp.2d 322, 342 (E.D. Pa. 2007) (awarding $75,000 to class representative out of $39.75 million fund); In re Domestic Air Transp. Antitrust Litig., 148 F.R.D. 297, 357-58 (N.D. Ga. 1993) (awarding $142,500 to class representatives out of $50 million fund); In re Dun & Bradstreet Credit Servs. Customer Litig., 130 F.R.D. 366, 373-74 (S.D. Ohio 1990) (awarding $215,000 to several class representatives out of an $18 million fund); see also Irvine v. Destination Wild Dunes Mgmt., Inc., 204 F. Supp. 3d 846, 851 (D.S.C. 2016) (awarding $30,000 to class representatives independent from $179,000 fund). One district court has gone so far as to say that incentive awards are “routinely approve[d].” Id., citing Cullen v. Whitman Med. Corp., 197 F.R.D. 136, 145 (E.D. Pa. 2000). The purpose of such awards is to encourage socially beneficial litigation by compensating named plaintiffs for their expenses on travel and other incidental costs, as well as their personal time spent advancing the litigation on behalf of the class and for any personal risk they undertook. Id., citing Muhammad, 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 103534, at *25; Varcallo v. Mass. Mut. Life Ins. Co., 226 F.R.D. 207, 257 (D.N.J. 2005).

Class members would have received nothing had Ms. Vannest not been willing to step up and file this action. Plaintiff gave her time and effort to prosecute the case. She participated in mediations as well as meetings with counsel and counsel’s staff. She consulted with counsel regarding critical aspects of the settlement. She made herself available to counsel whenever she was needed and stood willing to do whatever tasks would be asked of her as the case progressed.

Accordingly, the proposed service award is justified and appropriate. See Adkins, 2022 WL 327739, at *7; Cox, 2019 WL 164814, at *6; Archbold, 2015 WL 4276295, at *6.

VI. Conclusion

In accordance with the foregoing analysis, the Court ORDERS as follows:

(1) that pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e), final approval is granted in all respects of the terms and provisions of the Class Settlement and Release Agreement (“Settlement Agreement”), which the Court preliminarily approved by Order entered on July 12, 2022;

(2) Plaintiff and Class Representative Maureen Vannest awarded a service award of $12,000 in recognition of her service to the class;

(3) Class Counsel are awarded their attorneys’ fees from the settlement fund in the amount of $782,460.00, which represents one-third of the settlement fund;

(4) Class Counsel are awarded their litigation expenses from the settlement fund in the amount of $5,686.49;

(5) The Class Administrator is awarded administrative costs and fees incurred from the settlement fund;

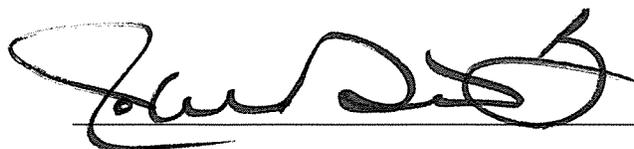

(6) The class and individual claims in this action are dismissed on the merits and with prejudice; and

(7) The Court retains jurisdiction over this action for the purpose of interpretation and enforcement of the Settlement Agreement, including oversight of settlement administration and distribution of settlement funds.

Under Rule 54(b), there being no just reason for delay, the Court directs entry of a final judgment as to the matters determined by this Opinion and Order.

The Clerk is requested to forward a copy of this written Opinion and Order to all counsel of record.
